Anchoring the Wisdom and Compassion of Yungdrung Bön Buddhism in the Pacific Northwest

Help us establish a permanent sanctuary in the Comox Valley - for the benefit of all sentient beings

A spiritual home for Sherab Chamma Ling, twenty years in the making.

> "The Bön is an ancient Tibetan spiritual tradition that cultivates compassion and wisdom, connecting all beings. It honours every belief, fostering unity, respect and a path to liberation from suffering"
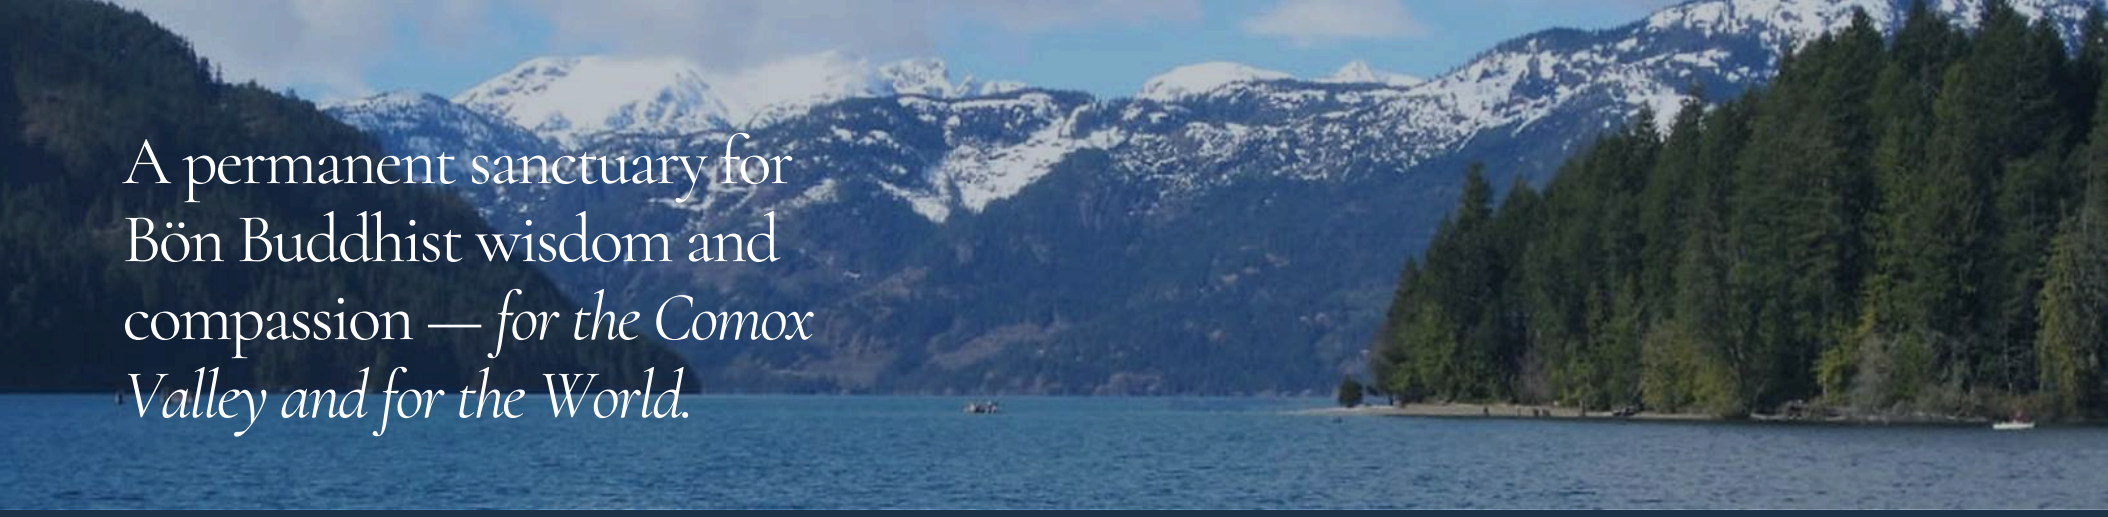
>
> - Geshe Yongdong

More than a building.
A permanent Temple (Gompa) is a manifestation of the Buddha's mind.

After two decades, Sherab Chamma Ling is more than a society — it is a spiritual home in the Pacific Northwest for practitioners of the Yungdrung Bön Buddhist Tradition from around the world.

CAMPAIGN MISSION

> Our mission is to secure a permanent Meditation Centre as a living anchor for one of the worlds oldest spiritual paths. This space ensures the ancient teachings, sacred texts, and living wisdom of Geshe YongDong Losar remain accessible to everyone, everywhere, for generations to come.



A permanent sanctuary for Bön Buddhist wisdom and compassion — for the Comox Valley and for the World.

A permanent home is far more than just a community centre; for a tradition like Bön Buddhism, a permanent home has profound spiritual, cultural, and communal impacts.

SACRED SPACE

A permanent Temple provides a stable environment for sacred deities to "reside" in the form of statues and thangkas, creating a powerful energetic field for practitioners.

CONTINUITY OF PRACTICE

A permanent Temple allows for the accumulation of energy over time through thousands and thousands of hours of ritual ceremony, chanting and meditation.

CULTURAL IDENTITY

It serves as a visual landmark of Bön Buddhist culture in the West, featuring traditional artwork and sacred symbols like the Yungdrung that educate the public about Tibetan history.

A sacred, permanent space in the Comox Valley for practice, study, sound baths, and ceremony.

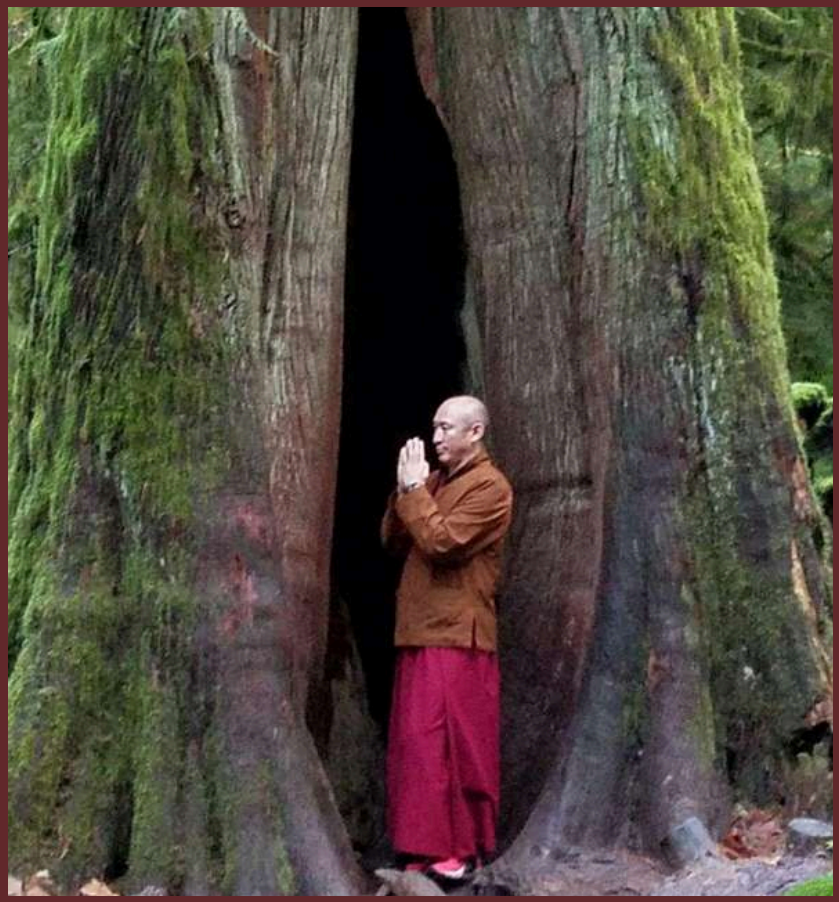
INTERNATIONAL TEACHING MANDATE

A permanent centre allows us to host high-ranking visiting masters, lamas and teachers, acting as a portal for the study of Bon Buddhist teachings in North America.

A HYBRID SANCTUARY

Our vision includes a Digital Teaching Studio. We will have quality streaming technology to broadcast live teachings to the global community.

Our remote students are not just donors - they are Founding Global Members whose support builds the infrastructure that brings GesheLa's voice into your home with clarity.



A LIVING CLASSROOM

The stunning landscapes of Vancouver Island offer themselves as a natural ground for Five Element practice — water, fire, earth, air, and space made visible.

PHASE 1 FUNDRAISING GOAL: $700,000.

Many ways to support.
